Directions for the playing of the C-sol-fa-ut cliffe upon the Violes &c.

3

To C-sol-fa-ut cliffe in the Tenor Violin.

If the C-sol-fa-ut cliffe stand in the middle Rule in line this is it is the same to play on the Tenor-Viole as to the C-sol-fa-ut cliffe standing in the lowest line is played on the Treble-Viole: the Notes & Stops keepe the same as you may see in the first Rule of Division mentioned before: only you must remember that to stop that note which is sharpe always, unles it be markd with flats, set at the Treble viole next unto the first direction is always flat (except that of fa ut) rules it sharpe, and the next is Re mi & fa sol la mi & the nature of the note is altered, the reason of the Notes following on the next Stops on both the Violes, and yet the C-sol-fa-ut cliffe in Stops with Rules, varieth from the Tunings of the Tenor-Viole in the Treble-Viole Tunes then the Treble-Viole Strunge by Strunge.

To the rule the Treble viole is to be tuned a note higher then the Tenor viole, and the first Strung of the Treble viole is to be tuned a note higher then the first Strung of the Tenor viole.

4

If the C-sol-fa-ut cliffe stand in the second Rule or lowest line you must practice by your Rules given before on the Tenor-Viole stringes: & the order of Musick, wherein from every Cliffe, is made to everyother by mutation, keepe a distinct way, by it selfe, varying in the Stops & Notes from the rest: & so each Tune keepes its Succession: the C-sol-fa-ut cliffe is placed in the second line thereof.

To C-sol-fa-ut cliffe in the third the same stringes as the Tenor Viole is to be tuned a Rule higher then the Tenor Viole or a Bass-viole.

If the C-sol-fa-ut cliffe stand in the highest Rule above this is it is upon the line played as a Bass-viole is tuned as the same stringes, as the Tenor Viole. If fa-ut cliffe is to be placed in the middle Rule and line.
